Frosh Gain Council Status

The Freshman Class will have equal representation on the Student Council this year for the first time in the history of the University.

Due to a new amendment to the Council's constitution, the present Freshman Class, and all future classes, will have the privilege of electing three members to the Council.

Any freshman that is carrying at least 12 credit hours and earns a 2.5 grade average by mid-term is eligible for nomination. Dormitory counselors and the Student Activities Office, 105 Moseley Hall, have application sheets for nomination.

Each student who applies will be interviewed by the Leadership and Service Board. The Board will select the 20 top applicants on the basis of their application, interview, and mid-term grade averages, and these names will be forwarded to the Senior Nominating Committee.

The Senior Nominating Committee will interview the 20 top applicants and select at least five, but no more than seven students to be eligible for election.

The committee will notify the candidates by Nov. 16 of their selection, and the student body election will be Dec. 5.

"Freshman representation was tried two years ago," said Eugene R. Wilson, Student Activities Director, but Council voted it down.

The late Bernard A. Gresick, last year's Freshman Class president, was the main leader in creating this innovation.

Participants Plan AWS Style Show

A meeting of women modeling in the A.W.S. Style Show was held Thursday, Sept. 26, in the Taft Room of the Union.

The meeting, directed by Sally J. Ewalt, was to inform the models how the show was being run this year and in what style categories they would appear.

The women also received information about when they should go to Lasalle's Department Store for outfit fittings. Clothes modeled in the show are being furnished by Lasalle's.

"Stairway to Styles" is the theme of the show, scheduled for Monday, Oct. 7. Each style category, such as lounging clothes, casual wear, formal attire, etc., also will follow a theme suggested by the title of a Broadway musical.

Enrollment Up For Extension Schools

The four branch programs of the 1963-64 Bowling Green State University Extension School began classes Wednesday, Sept. 18 with a 12% increase in enrollment over last year.

Dr. Ralph H. Geer, director of extension programs stated that Sandusky had the largest first day enrollment with 331. Fremont followed with 210 and Bryan and Postoria and 118 and 115 respectively. Final enrollment figures will be announced next week.

Fourteen sections were added this year, boosting the total number of sections to 81 as compared to 74 last year.

As a sidelight to this information, Dr. Geer also related details regarding a survey of students enrolled in the branch programs in 1960. The survey showed that married students at that time comprised one-third of the total number of full-time students. Also, over one-half of the full-time students were in the first quartile of their graduating class.

60 More Men Students Move Into Kohl Hall

The recently completed second floor of the new addition to Kohl Hall was made ready for 60 students Saturday.

The men came from their temporary accommodations at Shatzel, Rodgers Northwest, and Kohl Halls.

Although the building was originally scheduled to be completed before the fall semester commenced, only the top two floors were ready for occupancy.

The ground floor of the four story building remains to be completed. This floor consists of an office and a lounge. Mr. Richard J. Towner, head resident at Kohl, said he hopes the ground floor will be ready for Homecoming.

Special Student Honors Program Introduces New Educational Field

President William T. Jerome III today announced that Bowling Green will introduce a University Honors Program.

The new program will begin officially with the fall semester of 1964, but some pilot honor classes will be held during the second semester of the present school year, according to Dr. Paul F. Leedy, University provost.

University Receives Research Grant

Bowling Green has received a $50,179 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare Public Health Service for research to be conducted by Dr. Benjamin G. Rosenberg and Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith, associate professors of psychology.

The psychologists will conduct a two-year study dealing with various aspects of the family "constellation," and, in particular, the effects of one's birth order, sex, and the sex of his siblings on the resultant personalities.

During the past six years Dr. Rosenberg and Dr. Sutton-Smith have conducted several joint research projects and are authors and co-authors of numerous articles which have appeared in professional magazines.

Bowling Green has now received more than one-half million dollars in grants for research projects, equipment purchases and academic institutes for the current fiscal year.

Sororities Begin Upperclass Rush

A total of 171 women registered in the Union Tuesday, Sept. 24, for Panhellenic Council Upperclass Rush.

Rushes picked up their invitations and signed for parties from 12-4:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 27, in the Historical Suite.

These hour parties, which may be given at the sorority's discretion anytime between 12:30 and 8:30 p.m., began yesterday and will continue today and Thursday.

Invitations for Thursday's parties may be picked up from 5-8 p.m. tomorrow, in the Historical Suite.

Rushes may sign their preferences, listing their first, second, and third choices, from 7-8:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 4, in the Joe E. Brown Theatre. Sorority preference lists will also be accepted Friday, and bids will be distributed Saturday.

Rush counselors will be available in the Panhellenic Council Office, 105 Moseley Hall, Ext. 422, from 8-10 p.m. during rush. These women are non-affiliated members of their sororities during rush and will discuss any problems a rushee might have.

Upperclass rush is conducted under the authority of Panhellenic Council and is subject to its regulations.

Education Graduates Surveyed By College

The College of Education is currently engaged in conducting a survey of their 1963 graduates.

The survey is being conducted in order to determine the number of these former students who are now presently teaching and in what area of the country they are employed. Also, the occupations of these not teaching will be learned from this survey.

Results of this survey are expected soon by the College of Education.

Actually, this is a follow-up study, as a similar survey was conducted last year with the College of Education's 1962 graduates.

Information was obtained concerning the occupations and locations of 95 per cent of these former students.

Also, some of these graduates were invited back to the campus. From this meeting, a questionnaire evaluating preparation received at Bowling Green State University was prepared and distributed to the members of this graduating class.

The data received from this meeting was tabulated, analyzed, and then passed on to the faculty, so as to make any improvements possible in the preparation of students for teaching.

"Beginning with the 1964-65 academic year, the University will offer to some five percent of the entering freshman class the opportunity to participate in an educational program of considerable breadth and depth," the provost said. "Other students enrolled in the University may be invited to participate in the Honors Program on the basis of demonstrated ability and interest," he added.

"Those who accept the invitation to enter the Honors Program will receive unusually thorough advising with regard to their course of studies. Such advantages as acceleration through advanced placement or credit by examination and admission to honors sections of regular courses, honors courses, independent study and summer reading programs may be open to these students.

"The University has long recognized that some students are able to progress more rapidly than is permitted by the normal program of studies. The Honors Program will coordinate the efforts of the individual departments in this respect in attempting to permit students to progress as rapidly as they are able. Both the special courses and the independent work are intended to encourage individual creativity," said Dr. Leedy.

Special interdisciplinary Honors Seminars are planned, primarily for the freshman and sophomore years, according to Dr. Leedy. He said, "Courses such as these, which cut across departmental lines, not only provide an opportunity to study a particular problem or idea from several different viewpoints, but provide a more concrete base for the student's educational experience by illustrating the interdependency of what often appear to be separate fields of study.

"During the junior and senior years, when the student has made a definite decision as to his area of greatest interest, the colleges and departments will provide further, more specialized honors programs.

"In addition, students admitted to the Honors Program may be eligible for such privileges as preferential scheduling of courses, (Cont. Page 4, Col. 4)

Students Needed For Campus Jobs

There are more jobs available on campus and in the area, than people to fill them. This unusual problem belongs to the office of Student Financial Aids. Mr. Robert E. McKay, director of the office urges all students to watch the bulletin boards on the first floor of University Hall and on the third floor of the Administration Building for notices of job opportunities and to make application for employment at 322 Administration Bldg.

Some of the areas in which work is available are in the dining halls at noon, especially on Wednesdays, and odd jobs for residents in the area. More specific needs are for a freshman or sophomore man with mechanical ability who is free in the mornings and for a commuter from Napoleon who is free in the afternoon.

One reason for drop in the number of students using financial aids is that the office is less accessible in the new Administration Bldg. In the words of Mr. McKay, "We are afraid that in being off the usual line of campus traffic, students are not as apt to make themselves aware of some of the specialized job opportunities available."

New Men's Clinic Opens To Serve

The new Men's Health Service Clinic is now open daily Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will serve all male students living on the east side of the campus, including the fraternities, according to Dr. Marsh, Director of the University Health Service.

The new Clinic, located in what was the Home Management House on Ridge Street, is designed to relieve the pressure of out-patient treatment at the Health Center.

A further announcement by Dr. Marsh stated that flu shots and "Orimine" Polio vaccine will be available at the Health Center. The new "Orimine" Polio vaccine renders protection against all three type of poliomyelitis. All students are urged by Dr. Marsh to take advantage of this service.

Mud No Handicap To Victors In Dirty Work Of Mud Tug

The team composed of Kappa Delta and Delta Xi Delta social sororities and Theta Chi social fraternity won the first annual Mud Tug Saturday.

The affair, sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity, began with the "crowning" of Miss Mud Tug, who in reality was Sig Ep Eddie C. Fell. The coronation consisted of tossing the queen into the mud.

There proved to be many hilarious and hectic moments before the winners were presented trophies, almost 2 1/2 hours later.

The winning team drew a bye in the first round, and then went on to defeat Delta Zeta, Delta Upsilon, and Phi Kappa Psi in the second round; Delta Gamma, Sigma Nu, and Phi Kappa Tau in the semi-finals; and Alpha Delta Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha in the championship round.

During the intermission, the Golden Hearts of Sigma Phi Epsilon, a women's auxiliary, pulled and defeated the green actives, last spring's Sig Ep pledge class.

A tank truck with a high pressure hose was available for the less fortunate contestants who lost.

According to Richard R. Nelson, chairman of the events, the Sig Eps were pleased with the success of the venture and happy with the co-operation of the other fraternities and sororities. "If the campus responds well, we plan to have it again next year," Nelson said.

State Issue No. 1

Last week Student Council passed a resolution stating: WHEREAS, Ohio's future rests with the proper training of its youth, and

WHEREAS, the present appropriation by the State Legislature for higher education is not sufficient to adequately meet current and projected enrollments to maintain high academic standards in the State Universities of Ohio, and

WHEREAS, the revenues provided through passage of the proposed State Issue No. 1 would provide $175 million to help relieve critical needs in higher education, and

WHEREAS, Ohio's present level of taxes will not be increased, and

WHEREAS, the measure will merely continue a one-cent per pack cigarette tax already in effect,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT the Student Body of Bowling Green State University officially endorses the proposed State Issue No. 1.

Bowling Green's Student Council was the first institution of higher learning to endorse the issue, said Herschel Atkinson, Columbus.

This is a tremendous move in the advancement of higher learning. We know it, but do the voters in Ohio? No.

A survey of more than 1,200 registered voters in Cleveland, Springfield, and Findlay was taken the last week of August. Only 14 of every 100 said he had read or heard about State Issue No. 1. Only eight out of 10 of those who read or heard of the issue recalled any arguments either for or against it.

It's up to us to reach the 86 out of 100 between now and Tuesday, Nov. 5, who have not read or heard about State Issue No. 1.

That's why Student Council, the Student Communications Board, the Student Activities Organization, and other campus groups are working with "Citizens for Ohio's Future" to make the voters aware of the crucial situation that exists in Ohio in relation to higher learning.

It is reassuring to know that there is such a state-wide organization working for us. It is working to do what each of us must do to build a stronger Ohio.

But the "Citizens" can not possibly inform everyone. They need our help—just as we need theirs.

In your next letter home, make sure your parents know about State Issue No. 1 and what it means to you and to Ohio.

To the Editor:

By now probably everyone on campus is aware that Bernard A. Gresick, former freshman and sophomore class president, is dead. I believe it is sufficient to say that anyone, whether faculty or student, who knew Bernie would probably agree that he possessed as bright a future at Bowling Green as any student in her history.

One can imagine the horror experienced by Bernie's parents at having lost such a tremendous son. Due to the nature of the air plane accident, Bernie's body was never recovered and absolutely nothing was left to remember him by, except those memoirs accumulated by his parents, such as pictures of him and records of his activities in high school.

Three weeks ago tragedy again struck in the Gresick family. Colonel and Mrs. Gresick were notified that all of their household furnishings, including practically all the pictures of Bernie's grade school and high school activities were destroyed in a fire in a Washington warehouse, where they were being stored. The only remembrance of Bernie's activities that his parents now possess is a notebook of clipping from the B-G News about him during his freshman year.

Since the accident occurred in early June, I have been corresponding with Bernie's parents. In every letter they have expressed a desire to learn as much as possible of Bernie's activities on campus and of the friends he made here. They are anxious to hear any information whatsoever concerning Bernie from those who knew him or knew of him.

I would like to personally appeal to anyone who knew Bernie to take a few minutes and relate to his parents any information concerning him or possibly just to let them know how you felt about him. Your efforts will certainly be appreciated.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Official
Announcements

Bowling for couples started yesterday in the Buckeye Room. Thereafter, the group will bowl the first and third Mondays of each month.

Regular faculty bowling will be every Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m., starting tomorrow.

Both groups are open to all faculty and administration personnel. No reservations are necessary.

Every year youths spend in high school can be worth an average of $17,500 to each of them. A full four years can be worth $70,000. That is how much extra they will earn on an average over their working lives by going to school, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Newest Sorority
Enters First Home

Members of Delta Xi Delta sorority moved into their first house two weeks ago.

The house, which is located at 243 Thurston St., was formerly the United Christian Fellowship Center. The building was left vacant this summer when UCF occupied their new center.

At the present time eight sorority members are living in the seven-room house.

Eugenia C. Hodge, president of Delta Xi Delta, said that all the members were extremely pleased with the house. "Now that we have our own house," Miss Hodge said, "I think our sorority will develop a stronger unity since we'll be doing more things together."

9 Varsity Members Return
To Lead BG Debate Team

Nine varsity members of the University debate team are returning to tournament action this year. The veteran debaters will represent Bowling Green in approximately 25 tournaments throughout the debating season.

Under discussion for this year is the topic—Resolved: That the Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates. Varsity debaters must be able to argue both the affirmative and negative sides of this issue.

In addition to juniors Nancy V. Boyland, Susan C. Gray, Paul F. Swartz, Kevin J. Swick, and Larry N. Wilder, and sophomores Dave J. Brunner, Susan J. Horth, Ronald E. Pejsa, and Don C. Splitter, three other people may be added to the varsity squad. These people are senior Richard W. Bauer, junior Bonnie A. Gawronski, and freshman James H. Wilkins.

The team to represent the University will be chosen from these 12 persons. They will journey to tournaments held at such schools as Bradley University, the Air Force Academy, Western Reserve University, Northwestern University, Mississippi State Women's College, and Grove City College. Besides the varsity tournaments, novice debaters will travel to Purdue, University of Pittsburgh, Randolph-Macon College in Virginia, and other schools.

The debaters will not always be traveling, however. In February they will host the Third Annual Forensic Honorary Debate Tournament which draws schools from Texas to Vermont.

"I'm very optimistic about the coming year," said Dr. Otto F. Bauer, assistant professor of speech and director of forensics. "I would like to see Bowling Green recognized as a debating power. The youth of our debaters (only one of them is a senior) combined with their enthusiasm and experience may make this possible."

Rehearsal Begins
For Major Production

Casting has been completed for the first Major Production of the 1933-64 season, "Romanoff and Juliet."

Approximately 60 persons auditioned the 23rd and 24th of September according to Dr. F. Lee Miesle, Associate Professor of Speech.

Appearing in the play will be Neal R. Fenter, General; Donald M. Fuller, Soldier I; Charles W. Roberts, Soldier II; Clarence W. Babs, Romanoff; Jack B. Winget, Mawlsworth; John K. Bengston, Igor; Frederick J. Sweeney, Freddy; Michael A. Denison, Spy; Robert C. Dowdall, Archbishop; Natalie Hollister, Juliet; Patricia A. Parker, Marfa; Virginia H. Zullo, Evdokia; and Judi A. Elliot, Beaulah.

The play will be held in the Main Auditorium on October 17, 18 and 19.

UCF Center Celebrates Opening

UCF Defined As Member Of University Community

By Rev. Clyde Billings
Intern

Community is a large word which offers the possibility of many understandings. A dictionary defines community as "a society of people with common rights, privileges or interests." On this basis, it should be clear that the University includes many communities offering many opportunities and even services.

United Christian Fellowship is one of the University communities and we might say that we offer you a program. We might say that we have things "for you to do" and aids to deepen your understanding of the "spiritual" life. We might say a lot of things to try to attract your attention and get you into our new facilities, although our new home probably does a better job than all of our words might do. However, none of these things would be true or adequate for a total understanding of the "Christian" community.

United Christian Fellowship is Christ's Church or to use Paul's metaphor, Christ's body in the world. This simply means that the people who are part of the United Christian Fellowship have the common interest of finding the meaning of being a member of that body while participating in the body. To be a member is to study God's word, to worship Him, and to allow His word to transform our lives in fellowship with Him.

United Christian Fellowship is neither a source of entertainment for students nor an effort to draw people into a kind of protected life apart from their daily life as students or teachers.

Beyond the fellowship in which we live and learn the meaning of the Christian life in its depth, there lies the concern for the world (university) which is God's primary concern. This is the focus of the Christian, and as such it becomes the concern of his people, us.

From all of this we can say that the challenge of United Christian Fellowship is a change to the Christian students on campus to seek to be responsible Christians in this Christian community. Our work is your work and we would seek to have you join—in person. It should be remembered that the responsible life of the Christian is always lived in a community of fellow Christians. Christ committed himself to a group of people as his Father had done in Israelite history. Are you participating in his body in the world?

Eventful 18-Year History Precedes Present Building

By James Draeger

The United Christian Fellowship Center which we enjoy today is the summit of many defeats, victories, and stalemates. It is the realization of the dreams and prayers of many dating back to the beginning of organized campus ministry at Bowling Green State University, some eighteen years ago.

Prior to 1945 the churches in Bowling Green carried on their own separate denominational ministries for the University students. However, by 1945 the veteran's bill brought an increase in student enrollment.

At this time the Methodist, the Presbyterian, the Evangelical United Brethren, and the Disciples churches decided to pool their resources and called in a full-time director to conduct a program for the students. Shortly after, other denominations represented in the student population of the University also joined the program, as well as did the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A.

This new united program was one of the first of its kind in the nation. The Reverend James Stoner, a Disciple minister, was the first director, and the group called itself the Student Christian Fellowship. Through Rev. Stoner's ability and personality, and with the full cooperation of the University administration to back them, S.C.F. had a very dynamic beginning.

In the Fall of 1947, the Reverend Hollis Hayward, a Methodist minister, assumed the duties of director, and held that position for the next five years. During that period Rev. Hayward developed a close-knit core group but his greatest contribution was a deep concern for more adequate facilities. A building committee was organized, and their recommendations included: (1) that a home be provided for the director, to be owned and maintained by the S.C.F.; and (2) that an activity building be erected to carry on the program of the S.C.F. more effectively. It is interesting to note that even at this early date the plans for such facilities were very similar to the present U.C.F. Center.

the Student Christian Fellowship had outgrown its name and was now officially recognized as the United Christian Fellowship.

The third director was the Reverend Paul Bock, an Evangelical and Reformed minister, who had been a Y.M.C.A. student secretary in Oregon prior to his coming to Bowling Green. The following Christmas, Bowling Green U.C.F. made history by hosting the first Ohio Ecumenical Conference.

In the Fall of 1955 concern was again expressed by members of U.C.F. for some additional facilities. Thus was formed a preliminary building plans committee composed of members of the Board of Trustees, Robert E. McKay and Harold Van Winkle were instrumental during this period in efforts to further the building program.

In 1959 the Reverend M. Eugene Davis became the director of U.C.F. Immediately, he began to carry on the work of the building program, and a new Building Plans Committee was organized. Lorin H. Janzer, an active Presbyterian layman, served as chairman of this committee.

By the Spring of 1960, final architectural plans were being completed. The Building Committee met on April 7, 1960, and a contract agreement was presented to the architectural firm of Charles Barber and Associates.

Since that time Rev. Davis and U.C.F. have been occupied with the problems of coordinating the building program with the capital funds drives of the various supporting denominations. Ground-breaking and construction of the new building began in early August, 1962. Cornerstone laying ceremonies took place on October 28, 1962.

New UCF Center Dedication Features Littell As Speaker

The formal dedication of the new United Christian Fellowship Center featured Dr. Franklin H. Littell, who delivered the main address of the ceremony.

"Church, State, and the University" was the title of the address given by Dr. Littell, professor of church history at Chicago Theological Seminary and the editor of "Sermons to Intellectuals." In his address Dr. Littell said that the classical university had an essential purpose in relation to the church and to the state as a "center of raging dialogue." He said that in recent decades the university has evolved into a technical school where liberal, humane and theological concerns were often neglected.

"The crisis did not show so clearly as long as the common assumptions of our culture were Protestant, but now it is accentuated by the failure of the university to function as a university. The American state university, without the emphasis upon the concerns of the whole man represented by theology, has ended to become a complex of technical training centers without a universe of discourse."

The Chicago professor praised programs of religion at Michigan State University, Iowa State University and other state universities and colleges. Dr. Littell said he believed that beyond student religious groups and the campus ministry, the true university must provide for intellectual dialogue between the Catholic, Protestant and Jew to foster a new understanding of the relation of religion and a culture that is no longer controlled by Protestants.

Ranging into other theological problems in America, Dr. Littell praised the decisions of the Supreme Court which removed Protestant religious exercises from the schools. He thought the Court's decision was sound from the standpoint of "good religion" and "good citizenship." He called the Court's decision "a holding action" to prevent injustice against religious minorities.

Remarks also were made during the ceremony by the Rev. M. Eugene Davis, UCF Director, University President William T. Jerome III, and Dr. William B. Jackson, chairman of the UCF Board of Trustees.

Between 1954 and 1962, total enrollment in the nation's schools and colleges rose 35 per cent. Between now and 1970 the increase will be 17 per cent, half as much.

NCAA Change Causes Chaos

Of the three major changes by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Football Rules Committee, one in particular has been met with considerable negative discourse from coaches, officials, and fans alike; this is the controversial substitution rule.

"It's a poor rule," stated Bowling Green head coach Doyt Perry. "As far as workability, it is the worst ever." According to Perry, the rule has been extremely difficult to administer from the coaches position besides being notably complex for spectators to understand.

Bill Hess, Ohio University head coach, has commented that he dislikes the new controversial substitution rule and feels that, "It forces a coach to play his best players too long, not because he can't get them out, but because he has to worry about getting them back in at key times. This resulting tiredness increases the injury factor. Therefore, I think the rules are poor ones."

The substitution rule, as it now stands, allows unlimited substitution at the start of any period, after any score, after a try for point after touchdown, and when the clock is stopped, other than an official's time-out on first, second, or third downs.

A maximum of two substitutions is permitted on fourth down, after a change of possession, or after a touchback.

Substitution is not permitted when the offensive team makes a first down and the clock is running, on second or third down if the clock is running, or during officials' time-out on first, second, or third down.

There will be a freshmen and varsity swimming meeting tonight at 6 p.m. in 302 Men's Gym. All candidates planning on going out for swimming should plan to attend.

Intramurals Underway

The fall intramural sports program is about to begin but there is still time for those individuals interested to enter the varied activities offered. ENTRIES DUE: tennis, Oct. 9; cross country, Oct. 10; wrestling, Nov. 12; badminton, Nov. 26.

The fundamental purpose of the intramural program is to provide every student the opportunity to compete and participate in an athletic or recreational activity of his desire and interest. Competition is conducted on an individual, dual, and team basis.

SETTING THE PACE in Saturday's triangular meet is Bowling Green's Steve Strommenger. Strommenger finished fifth behind Dale Cordova with a time of 15:30. The Falcon harriers split with Miami and Kentucky, 21-34, and 16-46.

Harriers Split Home Opener

After splitting its opening meet Saturday, the Falcon cross country aggregation will host the Toledo harriers today at 4 p.m.

The Rockets were trounced by Coach Mel Brodt's squad last season 15-48 as the first five men across the finish line were Bowling Green runners.

In Saturday's triangular meet, Bowling Green topped Kentucky 16-46, but fell to powerful Miami 21-34. Miami captured three of the first four places and displayed the running power which has made them pre-season title favorites with strong Ohio University.

Bowling Green co-captain and number one runner Dale Cordova finished fourth in the meet for the Falcon's top effort with a 15:23 time over the three mile course.

Other Falcon runners who finished in the top ten were Steve Strommenger, last year's top frosh runner, who placed fifth in 15:30, and Tom Steury, who finished seventh in 15:36.

Miami's Andy Schramm established a new course record with a 14:39.3 timing to capture individual honors for the meet.

Golden Flashes Oldest Falcon Grid Opponent

The oldest Falcon rivalry on the gridiron is with Kent State. BG has met the Golden Flashes 31 times and boast a 16-9-1 advantage. Toledo is likewise a familiar opponent, encountering the Falcons 27 times. The Rockets all-time record against Bowling Green is 14-10-3.

Miami's Andy Schramm finishes far ahead in the Falcon's season opening triangular meet here Saturday with the Redskins and Kentucky. Schramm established a new course record for BG's three mile layout with a sensational 14:39.3 effort. (Photo by Joe Szabo)

The Bowling Committee of the UAO has announced the schedule for mixed bowling leagues this semester. There will be three leagues which will begin at 6:45 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 7, Wednesday, Oct. 9, and Thursday, Oct. 10. Three games will be bowled each evening for $1.15. Students who are interested may sign up now in the UAO office on the 3rd floor of the Union.

Steadily-Improving Bowling Green Dominates Southern Illinois, 31-6

By Neil Sanders
NEWS Sports Editor

Watch out Mid-American Conference. The steadily-improving Falcons are shedding their "inexperienced" label and if Saturday night's 31-6 triumph over Southern Illinois is any indication of what is to come, Bowling Green could well be a seasoned "veteran" when it opens its MAC title defense Oct. 12 here against Western Michigan.

Capitalizing on five Saluki fumbles, Bowling Green captured its second victory of the young season with apparent ease as the outmatched Southern Illinois squad, 15-14 upset victims of Evansville College last week, fell to the Falcons for the fifth time in as many meetings.

"I was pleased to win," stated Doyt Perry, Falcon head coach. "We played a much better game than last week and several individuals improved considerably."

Behind the hard, aggressive running of all-MAC second team choice Jay Cunningham, Bob Pratt, and Jim Wisser, Bowling Green rolled up 404 total yards while the stingy Falcon defense limited the hapless Salukis to just 47 net yards rushing and 126 total in what Perry described as "hard, rugged football."

Films of the Bowling Green-Southern Illinois football game will be shown tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Dogwood Room. A member of the Falcon coaching staff will be on hand to comment upon the action. The movies are presented by the UAO Special Features Committee.

While the Falcon head coach was pleased with the total performance of the MAC champions, he expressed some concern for the glaring amount of penalties assessed to Bowling Green. The alert, but over-anxious, Falcons drew eight misfractures which cost them 90 yards, several of the penalties being of the 15-yard caliber.

Pratt, a deceptively-quick 190-pound sophomore fullback, was the game's leading ground-gainer with 95 yards in six carries, including a 78-yard TD run midway through the final period. Cunningham, top Falcon rusher in last week's 27-14 opening win over Detroit with 101 yards, picked up 51 yards in 12 carries. Wisser, a 200-pound reserve fullback from East Palestine, added another 44 yards in eight carries and scored the Falcon's first two touchdowns.

Bowling Green's aerial attack, directed by poised Jerry Ward, was not as spectacular as in the season opener when Ward connected on 12 of 20 passes for 215 yards, but was still an essential and adequate phase of the Falcon offensive thrust. Ward on occasion overshot his intended target but managed to complete 7 of 17 attempts for 107 yards in another impressive performance.

The Salukis contained the versatile Bowling Green offensive machine the first half, trailing only 13-0 at intermission. Bowling Green's Wisser climaxed a 56-yard drive late in the opening quarter after Cunningham returned a punt to the BG 44 from his own end zone, and scored again early in the second period after the Falcon's Gary Whittaker recovered a Saluki fumble on the SIU 35 following the ensuing kickoff.

Bowling Green's John Haschak intercepted a Saluki aerial on the Southern 28 and returned it to the 14 on the first scrimmage play in the second half. Five plays later, Cunningham crashed over from the two to push the margin to 19-0.

Late in the third period, after two clipping penalties forced Bowling Green into a fourth and 26 situation, Ward threw to the end zone where speed merchant

Jimmy Goings made a sensational reception for the Falcon's fourth score.

Almost every member of the Falcon's 38-man traveling squad saw action in the contest, with the second unit playing nearly as much as the first squad.

About Sports

We were somewhat more successful in our predictions this week as only two teams, Syracuse and Western Michigan, ended up on the wrong side of the ledger. This week's 15-2-2 performance pushed the over-all percentage to an even 80 per cent with an 20-5-2 mark. Remind us not to go with the Broncos again.

In his youth, John Quincy Adams, sixth President of United States, was a noted swimmer who won numerous long-distance races. When he became President, he still continued to take daily swims—swimming for miles in the Potomac River.

The University of Toledo's nickname has been the Rockets ever since 1923 when a Pittsburgh writer covering Toledo's game with then powerful Carnegie Tech used the name in describing how TU played.

Bowling Green has had only four different head football coaches since 1924 which is an amazing (and creditable) accomplishment in this "no-win—no-coach" era.

Surprisingly enough, all the coaches, with the exceptions of Doyt Perry, weren't winners always, each experiencing at least three losing seasons. However, each coach compiled a winning percentage in his coaching career. Handling the Falcons from 1924-1934, Warren Stellar had a 49-21-19 record. Harold Ockerman replaced Stellar in 1935 and compiled a 20-19-9 mark during a six-year reign. Robert Whittaker, "the dean of Bowling Green grid coaches" with 14 years of service, posted a 66-50-7 from 1941 through 1954 when Perry took charge. Perry, the nation's winningest coach, has been at the helm for eight seasons and Bowling Green enthusiasts are hoping he remains indefinitely.

Professional football weathered another scandal rumor last week when veteran Charlie Conerly, 42-year-old former New York Giants standout quarterback, was cleared by the National Football League of any wrong doings in financial dealings with accused gambler Maurice Lewis. The NFL suffered considerable prestige last year when Paul Hornung and Alex Karra were suspended for betting and apparently everyone likes to throw a little mud when the opposition's down.

For the record, it will be the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Yankees in six games in the upcoming World Series.

An energetic recruiting effort has provided Ohio University, according to Bobcat Coach Bill Hess, "A good, solid freshman football team which will add depth in the future." The Bobcats acquired two all-state honor recipients in Willard Parr, a 6-4, 260-pound tackle from Hillsboro, and Wash Lyons, a 6-1, 180-pound fleet halfback from undefeated Ashtabula. Other highly regarded prospects are John Ochtyun and Andy Kostraba, linemen from Warren's "greatest team in history," and Cleveland Collinwood's Theo Morrow, a 175-pound speed merchant who travels 100 yards in 9.7.

Back in 1890, Wisconsin's football eleven charged onto the gridiron against the Gophers of Minnesota wearing top hats! It was the only formal football game ever fought. Minnesota won 63-0, despite the Badger's high-society entrance.

Newman Club Offers Courses In Religion

Beginning this week religious instructions at the Newman Club are being offered to all Catholic students. Something new has been added to the instructions this year—college credit! If students choose, they may pay a ten-dollar registration fee and receive college credit for all religion courses taken during the remainder of their college career. This credit is being offered by Mary Manse College of Toledo. Also, inquiry classes are being offered to all non-Catholic students who wish to learn about the Catholic Church.

The annual retreat for girls will be held from October 4-6. A fee of $15 will be charged. For reservations and information contact the Newman Club.

stack permits in the library, the use of special facilities and waiving of prerequisites or other requirements.

"Finally, recognition of participation in the Honors Program will be awarded to each student who accomplishes work of distinction in the program," Dr. Leedy concluded.

The all-university Honors Program is the result of three years of study by faculty committees. The first committee was appointed in the fall of 1960 to make a general study of honors programs over the country. Conferences were held with faculty from nearby institutions having honors programs. Dr. J. W. Cohen, director of the Inter-University Committee on the Superior Student, visited the campus and conferred with the committee and other interested faculty and administrative officers. The report of this committee, which was presented in the spring of 1961, recommended the establishment of an honors program at Bowling Green.

In the spring of 1962, at the request of the Academic Council, Dr. Leedy appointed a second committee to consider ways and names of implementing an honors program at the University. The report of this committee was presented in November, 1962, and was approved by the Academic Council in December, 1962. Further action on the program was then delayed until the new biennial budget became available in the summer of 1963.

Director of the program will be Dr. John R. Coash, chairman of the department of geology and assistant to the provost, who served as chairman of both Honors Program committees. Dr. Coash will be assisted by an advisory committee of representatives from the three undergraduate colleges. They are Lewis Manhart, business administration; Dr. Irvin H. Brune, education; and Dr. Frank Baldanza, liberal arts.

Faculty Art On Display

The faculty of the art department will open an exhibit of its works Sunday, in the gallery of the Fine Arts Bldg.

The exhibit, which will include works of ceramics, oil paintings, water paintings, sculpture, and jewelry, may be viewed on weekends from 1-5 p.m. and on weekdays from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Items on exhibit will be marked for sale. The display, which will continue through Oct. 30, is free to the public.

PR Seminar Here Tomorrow

Bowling Green will host the second annual Ohio Hospital Association Public Relations Intern seminar tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. in the Alumni Room.

The purpose of the seminar is to evaluate the Hospital Public Relations Internship Program, which awards six scholarships to students in the participating schools for public relations study in an Ohio hospital during the summer.

The $750 scholarships are administered by the OHA and financed by the Ethicon Corp. of New Jersey, which produces hospital supplies.

The seminar will bring together representatives of the participating hospitals, directors of the scholarship program, directors of the participating schools of journalism, B.G., Ohio U., Ohio State, and Kent State, plus the six interns who participated in the program this past summer.

Greetings to the seminar will be given by William T. Jerome III, the University president. The program will also include summaries by the six interns of their job experiences.

Bowling Green will be represented by Robert J. Buzogany, Managing Editor of the NEWS, who did his internship at Akron Children's Hospital.

Auditions for the Dad's Day Variety Show will be held today and tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Carnation Room. Contact Karen K. Simon at the Kappa Delta house, ext. 388.

Journalism School Sponsors Workshop

Yearbook staff representatives and advisers of more than 60 high schools are the guests today of the University for the Eleventh Annual High School Yearbook Workshop.

The workshop is sponsored by the School of Journalism. Dr. Raymond W. Derr, professor of journalism, started the workshop in 1953.

Representatives of American Yearbooks, Ansco, Deluxe Craft Covers, Kingscraft Covers, Edwards Brothers, Inc.; Gray Printing Company, and Taylor Publishing Company, are present.

The company representatives will advise the high school yearbook staff representatives on how to schedule, plan, and layout their yearbooks.

The purpose of the Workshop, is to introduce the high school yearbook staff representatives and advisers to the latest styles concerning high school yearbooks.

There are approximately two to three hundred yearbooks and covers on display in the Union.

Meeting Slated For Service Organization

Circle K, international college service organization, sponsored by the Kiwanis, will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, in the River Room of the Union, according to Capt. Joseph F. Bohren, adviser to the club.

The meeting will be open to all men students who are former members of Key Clubs in high school or who are interested in joining a service organization.
